LINDBERGH will return in about ten days, after seeing a few kings, and then make up his mind what to do next. Will Rogers, who understands acting and flying—he does both well—is determined that Lindbergh shall not go into movies or vaudeville, "where," says Rogers, "he don't belong.

"We don't ask our retiring Presidents to go into vaudeville and we would resent it if they did. England don't allow their Prince of Wales to go on paid exhibitions. Well, this lad is our biggest national asset. He is our Prince and our President combined, and I will personally play benefits for him the rest of my life to keep him from having to make exhibitions out of himself. We only get one of these in a lifetime."

WILL ROGERS writes earnestly, with great sincerity. But, perhaps the most useful thing Lindbergh could do would

$7,000,000 Sea Giant ~ In Crash Off Cape

ARTIST'S CONCEPTION OF COLLISION

Staff Artist Kolliker of the Boston Evening American made this drawing from descriptions of the collision of the $7,000,000 liner Malolo on her maiden trial trip and the freighter Jacob Christensen. The crash took place in the fog near Nantucket. There are more than 300 notable guests and experts aboard the Malolo.

THOUSANDS CHEER SKY HERO AS CITY HONORS HIM LIKE ROYAL GUEST

Paris, May 26 (A.P.).—Captain Charles Lindbergh was paraded before the eyes of the people of Paris today to such cheers as no man has heard in this city since Woodrow Wilson made his triumphal entry into Paris in 1919.

It was the first opportunity that the citizens of Paris have had to see the heroic American aviator since his arrival at the LeBourget Flying Field Saturday night, for all his intervening hours have been devoted to receiving honors from persons in high places.

Tens of thousands of Frenchmen cheered the young American as he was escorted from his country's embassy to the Hotel DeVille, where he was tendered a luncheon by the Paris City Council.

The Place de La Concorde was packed with humanity and so was the celebrated Rue De Rivoli looking out upon the great trees of the Tuileries Gardens, beautiful under a brilliant Maytime sun. It was a day such as poets and painters have celebrated for centuries, perfect Springtime in Paris.

The flower beds were in fresh bloom and the trees were from foliage, while the Tri-Color of France and

NEW GUARD ON FULLER AFTER WOMAN'S THREAT

Because of a shooting threat made by an unidentified woman, a State police corporal was placed as a guard today in the outer office of Governor Fuller's suite at the State House.

In civilian clothes, but armed for action, Corporal George A. Smith, who was the State police escort for President Coolidge during his Summer sojourn at Swampscott two years ago, watched all visitors while the Governor continued his conferences on the Sacco-Vanzetti case.

The threat was made by a woman who talked in rambling fashion to persons in Governor Fuller's office-lobby.

"There are a lot of dead people around," she said. Herman MacDonald, Governor Fuller's secretary, ignored her, thinking she was weak-minded but harmless, and hoping she would go out without being ordered away. As she left she said to others:

"I'm going to come back with a gun."

While the authorities believe she did not know what she was talking about, they are taking no chances

Lindbergh Will Pay Hub Visit If Plans Allow

CAPTAIN CHARLES A. LINDBERGH, "Scion of the Skies," will visit Boston if his plans allow him to reach the Hub, it was indicated in a cablegram today from the Paris flier to Governor Fuller.

"Lindy's" cablegram, in answer to one sent by the Governor, inviting his visit to Boston and assuring him of an enthusiastic reception, follows:

"Deeply appreciate your message. Hope my plans will allow me accept your kind invitation."

FAIL TO GET TOWLINE TO BIG SHIP; 310 ABOARD

New York, May 26 (A.P.).—A radio message from the Matson liner Malolo to Gibbs Bros., its designers, late today, indicated the new $7,000,000 vessel was still floating off Nantucket Light with its crew and the notable persons aboard, and that favorable weather had enabled an attempt to be made to get a line from the liner to the steamer Gulflight.

The attempt failed when the Malolo's wire hawser parted. The transfer of those aboard the Malolo was awaiting further moderation of the sea.

Danger from furnishing water on shipboard ceased, Gibbs Bros. said, sending a radio dispatch from the new vessel, and the fears of passengers had been allayed by officers in charge.

The Malolo is the largest and fastest commercial craft ever built in the United States and fourth largest in the world, and just com-

SOVIET BACKS 'PLOT' IN HUB, BRITAIN CHARGES

London, May 26.—The British government today issued a White Paper containing sixteen documents seized in Soviet House, which the Foreign Office stated should illustrate the hostile activities of the Soviet government and the Third International against Great Britain.

The revelations include references to approval of action taken at a conference of the "left wing of the Boot and Shoe Workers" in Boston. The White Paper was the first shot fired in the campaign for ratification of the cabinet decision for a rupture with Russia, which is being fought out in the House of Commons today.

It was stated that names of hun-

2 CONFESS TO KILLING AGED MAINE FARMER

Belfast, Me., May 26 (A.P.).—Leland Wellman, 23, and Perley Jones, 20, farm hands of the village of West Washington, confessed early today, county authorities said, to the brutal murder of Dexter Wentworth, aged Lincolnville farmer, who was clubbed to death in his home last Friday night.

Wellman struck Wentworth on the head eight times with a heavy club which he had taken with him for the purpose, County Attorney Clyde R. Chapman announced, following statements from the youths. The only loot obtained was $12 and their victim's watch, the prisoners declared, although neighbors of Wentworth had told authorities he had a large roll of money on him.

'I Feel, I Talk and Think American, Captain Lindbergh Tells Paris'

I DON'T speak Swedish and I don't speak French, and I don't speak anything but American. My father was born in Sweden, but mother was born in America. Perhaps she has a French strain somewhere in her ancestry. All the better, and I am proud of it. But, as for myself, I never gave it a single thought. I feel American, I am American. I talk and think American.—Captain Charles A. Lindbergh.

LINDBERGH IS GREETED BY NOTED FRENCH WAR HEROES

he Stars and Stripes of the United states fluttered everywhere.

Republican Guards, mounted on horses, lined the route, while every few feet or so stood policemen holding back the frenzied hero worshippers.

Babies See "Lindy"

Fathers and mothers held their babies on their shoulders as the American went passing by. Flowers were tossed in the path of his car and thousands of throats shouted "bravo" at the man who has made humanity a little more proud of itself.

Fountains were playing halfway down the Champs Elysee and in the Place De La Concorde, adding to the beauty of the scene. In the great paved square outside the Hotel De Ville, every inch of open space was occupied by cheering Parisians.

Inside the ancient structure that stands by the Seine, 3,000 fortunate folk had huddled clutching their precious invitations to the ceremonies there. The corridors and all the open salons were packed with people, eager-eyed and excited to the extreme.

The scene was perfect, but the procession was somewhat of a disappointment to the crowds.

The hustle and hurry spoiled it somewhat for the patient folk who had waited so long for a sight of the smiling face of the man who left New York one morning and arrived in Paris the next night.

A Triumphal Ride

The car in which Lindbergh sat sped through the Champs Elysee at 20 miles an hour or more.

It was a few minutes after three o'clock this afternoon when the flier left the embassy to ride to the hotel where the city had prepared this municipal reception for him.

M. Godin, president of the Municipal Council, and M. Bon-Jou, prefect of the Seine Department, called for him in an open limousine.

Escorted, as always, by Ambassador Herrick, the young flier and the two French officials at once started on the triumphal trip through the crowded streets.

At the Hotel De Ville itself a crowd was jammed almost to the doors above which flew a great American flag.

Cafe proprietors furnished extra chairs and tables for their patrons, but the space wasn't large enough and there was much climbing about to the detriment of the marble tops of the terrace tables.

The Gold Medal of the city of Paris, which is reserved for its most distinguished guests, was given to Captain Lindbergh as a part of the program.

Ambassador Herrick, who was the last of the speakers at the reception, thanked Paris from the bottom of his heart for the reception given to Captain Lindbergh.

"Now this boy can go back home and tell them how warm the heart of France beats for America," he said.

"Lindbergh was cold and hungry during his flight," the ambassador added, "but with all these honors, I think he is more tired today than he was during the hours above the Atlantic."

At these words, Lindbergh instinctively nodded his head.

Hurl Hats Into Air

The crowd in the court below here began shouting so loudly for the American aviator to appear on the balcony that he was led there by city officials.

His appearance was greeted with the wildest applause, the people throwing their hats into the air and waving canes, hankerchiefs and all.

At the close of the reception, as the flier was leaving, hundreds who could not restrain themselves, broke through the police lines. Girls and women with bouquets in arms rushed towards the car and tossed flowers into Lindbergh's lap.

An old-time civil service servant who has seen kings, queens and conquerors receive the homage of Paris in other days, wiped his weary brow and said that in all his life he had never seen such a crowd as was in front of the Hotel De Ville.

Because of national sorrow over the fate of Nungesser and Coli no "vin d'honneur" was served at today's ceremony nor did the Republican Guard give a concert at its completion as is the custom on such occasions.

Captain Lindbergh rode back to the Embassy by the same route over which he came, the crowds once more hailing him with delirious enthusiasm.

Earlier in the day, Capt. Lindbergh was a luncheon guest of Foreign Minister Briand at the Ministry of Foreign Affairs.

After the luncheon the guests with Captain Lindbergh went into an adjoining salon where pictures were taken.

The guests at the luncheon included American Ambassador Herrick, Paul Claudel, French ambassador to the United States, Minister of War Painleve, Generals Girod and Hirschauer, four former undersecretaries of state in charge of aviation, Percy Petroto, president of the American Club, and a dozen other important officials.

The luncheon was as informal and sociable as such a semi-official function in the foreign office can be, and, strange to say, there were no speeches except a brief one by Foreign Minister Briand, who told Captain Lindbergh: "France is dazzled by your great exploit and she is happy to show her admiration."

The air hero started the day by being the honored guest of two famous marshals of France—Foch and Joffre.

He also found time in his busy day's program to make a trip to the

Air Hero Objects to Being Called "Flying Fool"

Paris, May 26 (A.P.)—For the first time, Captain Lindbergh today expressed objection to being called a "Flying Fool." In view of his recent ocean trip and acknowledged flying ability, he now finds it more unjust than ever.

"I certainly do object," he told the Associated Press when asked how he really felt about the nickname that preceded him in his flight and went around the world to be translated into all languages. He was quite emphatic in his objection.

RICH STUDENT, WINE, CRASH, NO FINE

After admitting having wine at dinner and later having driven away from the scene of an accident without making known his identity, Cornelius Crane, son of a Chicago multi-millionaire and a student at Phillips Andover Academy, was found not guilty of three charges of violating automobile laws by Judge Creed in Municipal Court today.

Traffic Officer Selden Knight testified Crane, while under the influence of liquor, drove into another machine at Beacon street and Massachusetts avenue and failed to stop or obey the signal of the officer.

Crane told the court he had been visiting friends in the Back Bay and had partaken of wine. The collision was so slight he said he thought it unnecessary to stop.

Edward Fox, a Harvard student, testified he saw the accident and accompanied Crane to the police station. A cigarette would have covered any trace of liquor on Crane's breath, he said.

Questioned by Officer Knight, Crane said his dizziness at the station was due to the excessive heat. He admitted having declared his disgust at the manner in which "old maids drive through the streets."

Worcester, May 26.—Just one week of enforced idleness broke the spirit of Axel Alfred Carlson, for 40 years without a break an incessant toiler.

Carlson arose early today, went down cellar at his home in Regal road and hung himself to a beam.

His 17-year-old son, Sven Carlson, found the body several hours later.

Carlson lived with his wife, Hulda, and their only son. The father was laid off a week ago in the wire factory where he had worked for years and he had remarked that he could not stand the idleness.

ARRAIGN WIFE-KILLER ON CHARGE OF MURDER

Joseph McCall of Avon street, Revere, who at the end of a debauch May 8 stabbed his wife with a butcher knife and caused her death, was arraigned in Chelsea District Court today on a charge of first degree murder.

McCall and his brother-in-law engaged in an argument, according to the testimony given at a preliminary hearing. McCall secured a butcher knife and made a lunge at his brother-in-law just as his wife stepped in front of him.

WORCESTER MAN DEAD; NECK BROKEN IN FIGHT

Worcester, May 26.—John Lasens, 59, of North Ashland street, died at the Worcester City Hospital today from injuries which the police say were inflicted during a fight. Police were called to the Lasens home and helped place the man in bed, believing him to be only slightly injured. Today he was removed to the hospital suffering from a broken neck and he died soon after his arrival.

pleted for passenger service between San Francisco and Honolulu.

After the steamer Fisher had groped her way to the two fog-hidden vessels, the Jacob Christensen steamed on toward New York, leaving the Fisher standing by the anchored Maiolo.

Shortly after midnight the steamer Gulfland of the Gulf Refining Company also got to the Maiolo and was standing by.

Receipt of the liner's SOS calls started a dozen ships to her aid.

The anchors were dropped close to the scene of the crash and the ship prepared to remain in position until the tugs arrived.

The water-tight bulkheads out of reach of the iron prow of the Norwegian freighter Jacob Christensen which rammed the liner, held back the flow of water that, for a time, threatened disaster.

The crash occurred six miles off Nantucket lightship in longitude 40.29, latitude 70.14. The boilers on the Maiolo were put out of commission by the inrush that put the engineerooms under about four feet of water. The freighter suffered considerably by the impact, but was able to proceed under her own steam. The Christensen was reported proceeding slowly to New York.

Philadelphia, May 26 (A.P.)—A wireless report given out by the Philadelphia Maritime Exchange states the steamer Maiolo, disabled at sea as the result of a collision, is not taking any water as the water-tight bulkheads are holding. A destroyer, coast guard vessel, tank steamer, freighter and a trawler are standing by. All personnel not required for navigation will be transferred, it is expected.

STANDARD OIL MEN IN QUINCY DEPOT PARLEY

Representtives of the Standard Oil Company today conferred with President William A. Bradford and other officials of the Quincy Chamber of Commerce about establishing a gasoline storage depot at Quincy Point. A year ago the Standard purchased the Baker yacht basin at Quincy Point, but opposition of the municipal authorities blocked establishment of the storage depot. The company was represented at today's conference by C. B. Jones and Attorney F. J. Casey, both of whom declared they were satisfied with the prospects that the depot would likely be erected.

WORLD'S "FIRST LINDY"

FARMERS' EYES POP AS MAN FLIES OVER

In 1909, the Frenchman, Bleriot, first aviator to fly for any considerable distance over water, astounded these rural folk and the world at large by hopping across the English Channel, a distance of about 30 miles—less than one-hundredth the distance Lindbergh flew in crossing the ocean.

THIS $200,000 PLANE MADE THE FIRST CHANNEL FLIGHT

This is Bleriot's plane, from an old photo of that date. It cost $200,000 to build and Bleriot got $20,000 for the hop. Lindbergh's flight cost $13,500 including $500 sent him for passage home. He gets only $25,000 prize money, which shows rewards for such feats of daring have not kept pace with the advancement in flying.

PATIENT GAINS AFTER LOVE HAS ITS WAY

Lowell, May 26.—Mabel is a topping girl, not solely because her name is Mabel Topping, but because her devotion and her loyalty and her marriage within a few hours of the time set for amputation of her fiance's leg—well, what patient would not rally with such a girl to rally for?

Now, Frank M. Logan, thirty, of West Fourth street, may not have to lose the leg at all, his condition having so improved as a result of the hospital bedside ceremony that surgeons have deferred action indefinitely.

The bride is twenty-seven years old and lives at No. 32 Tower Hill street, Lawrence. A week ago Logan, her fiance, was badly injured in a Dracut automobile accident.

His condition became so bad that surgeons decided one of his legs must be amputated if he would be saved from the grave—and Logan, turning his face to the wall in St. John's Hospital, gave up his expected bride for all time.

His fiance hastened to City Hall, filed marriage intentions, obtained a waiver of the five-day law, hastened back to the hospital with the Rev. Fr. John J. Donnelly—and became a bride.

Almost immediately Logan's condition changed for the better.

ROXBURY MAN HELD IN BRUTAL ROBBERY

Charged with assault and battery and robbery, William Butts of Chadwick street, Roxbury, was held in $5,000 for hearing June 7 when arraigned in Roxbury Court today. Police say he stole $40 from William F. Connelly of Coleman street, Dorchester, on May 6, after brutally beating his victim.

Connelly was taken to the City Hospital after the assault with a fractured skull. His condition is still serious.

AIR HERO RISKS LIFE IN FEAT OF DARING

Dayton, O., May 26 (A.P.)—For the first time in the history of aviation an "outside loop" has been made.

Lieutenant James A. Doolittle, McCook Field hero of many daring feats and noted as a racing pilot, risked his life to perform the "outside loop" at a speed of 280 miles an hour above Dayton.

Lieutenant H. J. Hutchinson, chief test pilot at the field, and six other fliers vouch for authenicity of the outside loop.

Contrary to procedure on the ordinary loop, Doolittle turned the nose of his ship downward when flying at the speed of 150 miles an hour, at an altitude of 8,000 feet.

He kept on that course performing a complete loop, but required a drop of more than 2,000 feet, during which he attained a speed of 280 miles an hour before the loop could be completed.

When Doolittle landed, his eyes were bloodshot and there was evidence of a hemorrhage of his lungs, but he is reported to be suffering no ill effects today.

So far as known, there have been no attempts to make an "outside loop" since 1912, at which time two aviators in the west lost their lives in attempts.

The "outside loop," known also as the "back" or "reverse" loop, is what the last term indicates—a loop executed in reverse fashion.

Instead of the dive for speed, the pull back on the stick, the fast climb, the "bang" at the top of the curve and the "flop" down the coast of the back curve to swoop into normal flying position, as in the ordinary loop, the pilot dives, goes down

HEARING ON CUT SCHOOL FARES JUNE 15

The first public hearing on a proposal to repeal the law requiring street and elevated railways throughout the State to charge special rates for the transportation of school children will be held June 15 before the Public Utilities Commission.

The commission was directed by the last Legislature to hold hearings and to report its findings not later than December as a result of a petition for legislation filed by Willis Munro, representing the town of Mattapoisett. Munro is also a minority stockholder in the Boston Elevated Street Railway.

Munro claimed when the original bill was heard before a legislative committee that the Elevated had $1,719,922 between 1918 and 1925 as a result of the practice of giving the half-fare rate to school children. If the full fare on these fares had been paid by the 39,396,145 riders, he claimed, the forced loans from the cities and towns would have been cut to $368,000 and fully paid off several years ago.

Munro also contended cut rates for school children in other parts of the State had a disastrous financial effect on struggling street railway companies.

NICHOLS AFTER '2-JOB MEN' AT CITY HALL

There was considerable agitation among the "two job" men at City Hall today when Mayor Nichols ordered two water meter readers to give up their city work or quit extra night work at the pesthouse.

"I intend to do this in all cases reported to me," the Mayor said.

The two men affected today are Walter M. Campbell and Edward P. O'Brien. Each gets a salary of $1,700 a year from the city and both have families. They have been working three or four nights a week as subclerks at the postoffice at 65 cents an hour.

What induced the Mayor to issue his order to them was not stated, but he admitted having learned the Finance Commission was making an inquiry. Many other city employes are said to be working after hours on outside employment, as many men in private employment do.

Campbell and O'Brien work from 9 till 2 for the city, with 100 meters apiece to read each day. Their postoffice work was in the evening, according to Federal officials.

MARIE PREVOST LIVING ALONE

Los Angeles, May 26 (A.P.)—The Times says Marie Prevost, film actress, and Kenneth Harlan, her actor husband, have separated, Miss Prevost having left their home for a hotel more than a week ago.

Miss Prevost was quoted as having confirmed the report.

"Yes, I have been staying here for more than a week," she said, "but there is nothing to say. Mr. Harlan is at our home. I can't say more at this time."

Friends of the couple say incompatibility brought about the separation.

Since their marriage, Miss Prevost and Mr. Harlan had been pictured as Hollywood's perfect marital leads.

NEWS OF DEATH AWAITS SHIP

Receiving news of her brother's death when the Leyland Line steamship Winifredian reached quarantine today, Mrs. C. H. Buck had a sorrowful trip up the harbor to the East Boston dock.

Dr. and Mrs. Buck have been touring England and knew nothing of the family tragedy until a message was delivered through officials at quarantine. The Winifredian brought 31 passengers and four valuable hurdle horses.

Miss Sarah B. Moffatt of Quincy, returning from a tour of England, shyly admitted she was to return shortly to become a bride.

The jumpers were consigned to Charles Sumner Bird, Jr., scion of the Bird family of Walpole.

LYNN 'ARRESTS' JAY-WALKERS

Acting on orders of Mayor Bauer, police in plain clothes today "arrested" several thousand "jay walkers."

Scores of pedestrians failing to obey the traffic signal lights at intersecting streets were stopped by police and their names and addresses taken.

In the first hour more than 1,000 "jay walkers" were "arrested" and a total of between 4,000 and 5,000 was expected for the day.

nal under and makes his rise on the back curve.

In the regular loop, the pilot is riding on the inside of the whirl, while in the outside loop his head marks the outside circumference. Also, in executing a regular loop, the pilot is forced harder into his seat by centrifugal force, while in an outside loop, he has no such centrifugal protection and the tendency is to throw him out. "It's safety trap holds him, however.

It's almost as hard to explain clearly as to do—successfully.

deals of persons in Great Britain, including several Members of Parliament, appear in the documents.

M. P. NAMES KEPT SECRET.

The names of Members of Parliament will not be made public, it is understood, because the government hesitates at taking advantage of such information to bolster their case against the Soviets, but that the names may be used as a check upon certain sections inclined to oppose the government's moves and decisions.

Premier Baldwin was asked in the House today whether the British consular services would be withdrawn from Russia and what government would be asked to take charge of British interests there.

The Premier replied that the British representatives at Leningrad and Vladivostok were not consular officers, but attached to the British diplomatic mission in Moscow, and would be withdrawn simultaneously with the mission. The point raised in the latter part of the question, he said, was still under consideration.

LABORITES PROTEST.

Speaking for the Laborites J. H. Clynes told the House that Soviet Russia "must not be condemned without trial."

A resolution moved by Mr. Clynes reads:

"That having heard the Premier's statement, this House is of the opinion that termination of the trade agreement with Russia and severance of diplomatic relations would have serious international consequences and close a promising avenue to the restoration of trade and industry, and is therefore a policy to which the country ought not be committed until the report of a select committee, based upon examination of all relevant documents and full inquiry into the facts, has been submitted to this House."

U. S. NAMES ON LIST.

Included in the White Paper was a list of "illegal addresses for communication with the Communist parties in America, Mexico, South America, Canada, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa, which were found in the possession of Anton Miller, who resisted the police when they sought to take possession of his dispatch box."

Among other documents published in the White Paper was a letter from M. Jusefovich, secretary of the revolutionary leather workers international committee, addressed to Comrade Bixby of the Workers' Party of the United States, New York, acknowledging Bixby's letter accepting "mandate as a member of the international committee of propaganda and action of revolutionary workers."

Jusefovich instructed Bixby to render a monthly report on "the position of the left wing movement among the workers in the leather, boot, shoe, saddle and glove making trades."

BACKS ACTION IN BOSTON.

"You, Comrade Bixby," said the letter, "will receive our information, letters, material and notifications on decisions of outstanding questions which you will have to illuminate and popularize as far as possible and put into effect in America."

Jusefovich expressed approval of the decisions of the left wing conference of the Boot and Shoe Workers held in Boston and offered congratulations on the plan to publish a paper known as "the Progressive Shoe Worker."

Jusefovich said he was interested in the establishment of the "Ford system" in the American Boot and Shoe industry and asked for information.

Another telegram from the charge, dated May 13, suggested that the Soviet Foreign Office publish as a rumor that the missing document sought in the London raids "referred to the aerial bombardment of a certain European capital."

HUB MAN'S "LINDY LINDY" SONG MAKES A BIG HIT

"Lindy Lindy," the song composed by Dok Eisenburg, Boston orchestra leader, as a tribute to Captain Charles A. Lindbergh, has apparently struck the fancy of musical New England.

The words of the song were first published in the Boston Evening American. Last night when "Dok" and his orchestra appeared at Lake View Park, in Foxboro, they were besieged with requests for the number.

Today's mail brought scores of letters congratulating the leader on his composition. "You can't give us enough of it, it's great," one enthusiast from Auburn, R. I., wrote. "Lindy Lindy" was played for the first time on Tuesday evening over the radio from Station WNAC.

"I guess we'll have to include the song in all our programs from now on," said Eisenburg today as he waded through the heap of congratulatory messages that flooded the broadcasting station.

ATWOOD, FORMER FLYING HERO, WINS COURT CASE

Harry N. Atwood, who in 1910 won fame by flying an airplane down the Hudson River from Albany to New York city, won vindication in the Supreme Court of Massachusetts today when a decision was handed down dismissing a bill in equity brought against the aviator by William E. Thayer and others. Thayer and the other plaintiffs sought court action to compel Atwood to turn over to them certain common stock of the Rubwood Wheel Company, Inc. When the case was carried into the Superior Court Atwood won a verdict. The appeal, which was refused today, asked that this finding of the Superior Court be set aside.

WEYMOUTH WOMAN WINS FRENCH ACADEMY AWARD

Madame Marie B. Clement of Ralph Talbot street, South Weymouth, was today awarded the palms as an officer of the French Academy in recognition of her work as a nurse in the World War. Madame Clement served as a nurse for twenty months in France. Eight months of this time as spent near the front line trenches.

Notice of the award of the palms came from the office of the French consul-general in New York.

with her or any other State House visitors, whether sane or not.

Corporal Smith was stationed on duty by Captain Charles Bessette, head of the uniformed State Constabulary. This was done on orders from General Alfred F. Foote, Commissioner of Public Safety.

The Boston Board of Street Commissioners, at a meeting held this afternoon gave "leave to withdraw" an application for a permit made for a street parade by Miss Mary Donovan and J. E. Barry of the Sacco-Vanzetti Defense Committee.

Miss Donovan and Barry in their application stated that George Brunting, noted Swedish liberal and son of the first president of the League of Nations, was due in South Station on Sunday afternoon. The petition asked that they be allowed to parade over a course that would enable them to have the Swedish visitor join them. Dock Square was the objective of the planned parade and there it was planned to hold a demonstration of protest against the proposed execution of Sacco and Vanzetti. The action of the Street Commissioners today effectually halts the plans for the parade.

There was a new figure today in the group in Governor Fuller's office, which heretofore has comprised only the Governor, Lieutenant-Governor Allen, Secretary MacDonald and Attorney Joseph Wiggin, personal counsel of Governor Fuller. This was former Superior Court Judge Frederic H. Chase, a leading lawyer and counsel for the administrators of the Lotta Crabtree estate.

Sacco's former employer, Michael H. Kelley, shoe manufacturer, of Stoughton, was in conference for half an hour with the Governor today. At the trial he testified that on the day of the South Braintree hold-up and murder, Sacco was not at work.

Mayor Dons a New 'Straw'; Same Size as 20 Years Ago

With the coming of sunshine, Mayor Nichols was showered with new straw hats from enterprising Boston tradesmen. There was nothing doing, however, as the Mayor recalled having bought a new one the last time the sun was out—which was when?

A reporter, equally enterprising, asked His Honor what size he wore, thinking there might be a give-away.

"Same size 'as twenty years ago,' replied the Mayor, which shows a rise in life doesn't always mean an enlarged cranium. The reporter put on his old derby as he walked out, and smiled sardonically when the threatening clouds loomed later in the day.

GAMBLER BIDS ALL 'GOOD-BY'

With a note stating that he had gambled heavily and lost, and bidding goodbye to "family, friends, employers and creditors," the automobile of Harvey E. Settles, 45-year-old clerk at the New England Trust Co., Devonshire street, was found in Bristol, Ct., today.

Settles, who is married and who lived in Framingham, has been missing for two days from home and position, and the police of the Hub today were endeavoring to locate his wife in Framingham. A directory of a few years back gives his address as Hill road, Framingham.

when last seen. This has not been found.

Suspicion was first directed to Wellman when it was learned that the 65-year-old farmer had told neighbors that the youth had robbed him of $400 in a transaction last Fall and that there had been bad feeling between them.

Later it was learned that a machine corresponding in appearance to one owned by Wellman had been reported on roads near the lonely Wentworth farmhouse last Friday.

Chapman and Sheriff Frank A. Cooper, together with Frank Rogan, a Bangor detective, and Cecil Clay, court stenographer for Waldo County, went to Rockland, where they found Wellman in the Knox County Jail on a minor charge.

Wellman stoutly denied any connection with the murder and asserted he had been on a fishing trip with Jones Friday. The authorities then turned their attention to Jones, whose story of the trip presented certain discrepancies that resulted in renewed questioning. He at first disclaimed, but finally confessed, complicity in the murder. County Attorney Chapman said, whereupon the party returned to the jail, and after further interrogation Wellman, too, admitted the killing.

Jones, in his confession, said he had been persuaded to accompany Wellman to "get some money," that they had driven to Wentworth's home, where both had engaged him in conversation, and that while the farmer was looking down Wellman had struck him on the head with a heavy board that he had brought in his automobile.

POST TO HONOR NUNGESSER AT BIG CARNIVAL

As a tribute to the heroism and prowess of Captain Charles Nungesser and Major Francois Coli, missing French aviators, 12 planes will soar over Braves Field on the night of the Crossroads-Pinson Post, American Legion, carnival, it was announced at the post luncheon today.

The carnival, which will be given on June 13, will halt for a "solemn moment" during the flight of the planes, and the throng in the shadows of the park bordering on the Charles will be asked to stand and face toward France.

Francis H. Sisson of the Guaranty Trust Company, New York, was the principal speaker at the luncheon today and told the Legionnaires that in 1926 a total of $750,000,000 was spent in newspaper advertising throughout the country while $230,000,000 was spent in advertising in magazines.

"If we are to be successful in business we must advertise," he said. "Advertising brings the best results. Companies that have come from obscurity have stuck on the New York exchange today, stock that has doubled and trebled in value—and this has been accomplished through the medium of advertising.

"Even bankers have come to realize that advertising plays an important part in the machinery of today."

Rin Tin Tin's Owner Divorced by Noted Horsewoman

Los Angeles, May 26 (A.P.).—Mrs. Charlotte Anderson Duncan, California horse woman, was given a divorce from Leland L. Duncan, owner of Rin-Tin-Tin, dog actor, here yesterday when she testified her husband "didn't love either me or the horses; all he cared for was Rin-Tin-Tin."

Although Rin-Tin-Tin earned $2,000 a week, Duncan contributed only $30 a week to the family budget, Mrs. Duncan declared. She also told the court that her husband treated her valuable horses "as though they were common stock."

HEAR SLAIN MAN THREATENED SUSPECT

Fall River, May 26 (A.P.).—Police here today were investigating a rumor that Theodore R. Gibbons, whose body was found in an East Swansea well Sunday, threatened Antone Da Silvia shortly before his disappearance from his home here.

Da Silvia, with Mrs. Gertrude Gibbons, are held on a murder charge in connection with his death.

Police today denied reports bloodstained garments have been found in the house said to have been occupied here by the wife and her admirer, and denied a third arrest is expected in the case.

Despite the arrest of the pair by State police, Fall River officers still incline to the theory Gibbons was a victim of a rum gang he may have met in the Swansea woods.

Father of C. E.

DR. F. E. CLARK

The founder of the world-wide Christian Endeavor Society, which has numbered 25,000,000 members, died at his home in Newton today at the age of 75.

most successful religious movements among young people in all history.

Dr. Clark supported himself by his writings, refusing fees or salary for Christian Endeavor work. With his wife he traveled extensively and braved hunger, cold and plagues to carry on Christian work in every land.

He observed his golden wedding anniversary last September, and his wife survives him. He was a native of Aylmer, Quebec, but his parents were New Englanders. In 1873 he was graduated from Dartmouth College and three years later from Andover Theological Seminary.

Death was due to a combination of ailments aggravated by old age. He sank into a coma yesterday and passed away without regaining consciousness. The funeral will be held Saturday.

FIVE INJURED IN HUB AND LYNN AUTO CRASHES

Mrs. Mary De Martine, 49, of East street, Dedham.

Miss Angelina De Falco, 29, of Avery street, Dedham.

Vatina Arinog'da, 16, of Cedar street, Oakdale.

In one of the Lynn crashes:

Miss Alda Caroline Burkhardt, nurse, Reservoir avenue, Revere.

In the Massachusetts avenue and Tremont street crash a touring car bound from Dedham to Boston was overturned when struck by a heavy coke truck.

OVERTURNED BY TRUCK.

The truck driver, James A. Morris of East Dedham street station, who was nearby, ran to the crash scene and bundled the injured into passing machines for fast rides to the City Hospital.

Here they were found, however, to have suffered only contusions and abrasions.

Dense fog was responsible for the crashing of two autos through the gates at Point of Pines bridge where the draw was up. Miss Burkhart, riding in one of the cars, suffered injuries to one of her shoulders.

While the fog was thickest the Point of Pines draw was lifted to permit a tug, towing a barge, to pass through to the plant of the General Electric Company. A moment after the draw was opened a car, driven by Gilman F. Howland of Winthrop crashed through the gates and came to a stop with the front wheels dangling over the river water.

As Howland leaped from the car the Burkhart machine came crashing through the broken gates. Had either machine gone a foot or two farther it would have gone into the river.

A Metropolitan Park policeman who was nearby summoned an ambulance and Miss Burkhart was taken to the Lynn Hospital, where her injuries were dressed.

WESLEYAN HONORS HEAD OF AMHERST

Middletown, Ct., May 26 (A.P.)—The honorary degree of Doctor of Laws was conferred by Wesleyan University upon President George D. Olds of Amherst College today at a convocation in Memorial Chapel. President Olds was presented to President James L. McConaughy by Dean Frank W. Nicholson. The speakers of the occasion were President Olds and President Harry A. Garfield of Williams College, who received the same honorary degree from Wesleyan in 1909.

PARENTS TOLD TO DROP THEIR RUM FLASKS

"If you will drop your flasks and ribald talk, the younger generation will take care of itself," said Rev. Ulysses G. B. Pierce of Washington in addressing a meeting of the General Alliance of Unitarian and Other Liberal Christian Women in Tremont Temple.

"You set the example which the young people follow; you can't expect them to be good if you are not.

REVIVAL NEEDED

"There are thousands of young people today who do not know whether the epistle of James is in the New or the Old Testament, but that is your fault because you have not taught them; you have let them slip through your fingers.

"People no longer go to church to hear good music, either by a quartet or from the organ. They can get that by radio or the symphony orchestra. You must have something more in your church than music.

"We need a revival of learning, even here in Boston. With motion pictures and high tension living we are indisposed to read. No better thing could happen to our Church than to recapture the art of reading; it would be a bore at first, but a boon later.

SCREEN EMOTION CHEAP.

"The motion picture with its glistening tears of the silver screen and rather cheap emotional plays of the spoken stage have made us feel we have experienced the emotions shown.

"We seem to have experienced the delights and throes of love in the same way that the young girl does simply because she has seen Valentino on the screen.

"But give yourself up fully to the teaching of Christ for one day, go help feed the underfed for one day and you will get a real thrill."

TWO STRAY WHITE HORSES LOCKED UP IN SOMERVILLE

"Horses, Horses, Horses!" was the favorite tune of Somerville police today. A white horse followed Patrolman John Dadmun about his beat until Dadmun sent a newspaper truck driver, John Harrington, of Pemberton terrace, Cambridge, had the animal placed in a stable. Later the horse was claimed by John O'Neill of Somerville, who said it had broken out of its own stable.

John Foley, a Somerville city employe, was followed by another white horse as he made his way to his home on Sargent street. He took the animal to the Fannon stables, where it is being held awaiting its owner.

BABY HIPPOPOTAMUS GIVEN TO COOLIDGE

Washington, May 26 (I.N.S.).—President Coolidge's private White House menagerie will be increased by a baby hippopotamus—the gift of Harvey S. Firestone, the rubber magnate.

The President was advised today that the newest addition will arrive on June 1. It is about six feet long and stands about thirty inches. It was captured on the Firestone plantation in Liberia.

The Liberian hippo prefers dry land to water and arrangements have been made for a dry berth for the youngster at the National Zoo.

FREED IN BURGLARY CASE, HELD FOR THEFT OF AUTO

Sewall, 19-year-old Somerville youth, chargde with breaking and entering and larceny of $5 from the dwelling of Catherine Kelley on Bonair street, Somerville, had his case filed in the Somerville District Court today, and was turned over to the Avon police on the charge of larceny of an automobile, alleged to have been stolen in Roslindale, and which figured in a crash on East Main street, Avon, on the morning of May 12.

LONDON WOULDN'T EVEN LET 'CAT LOOK AT KING'

London, May 26 (I.N.S.).—And now they propose to take some of the enjoyment out of life for the common folk of London.

The Daily Mirror today opened a campaign to bar the public from the Mall on nights when there are courts at Buckingham Palace.

It has long been considered the privilege of the common folk to gather in crowds and watch the "swells" ride by. Recently the common folk have jumped on running-boards and peered through the limousine windows to get a better view. The remarks of the crowds have not been always courteous either.

Last night some of the sallies which American and English debutantes had to listen to were:

"Oy, 'Arriet, look 'ere, this one 'as a bathing costume on!"

"Naah—they aren't mother and dorter—wait a bit—maybe they are—they've the same ugly noses."

"Oy, look at the ugly mole on this one's cheek."

The Daily Mirror declares "the crowds gave a shocking exhibition of bad manners, and something must be done."

GAS COMPANY'S HOME OPENED

Boston's newest building, the new home of the Boston Consolidated Gas Company, bordering on Arlington street, Stuart street and Columbus avenue, was formally inspected by newspapermen, engineers, architects and others today.

Following a luncheon at the Engineers' Club, at which President Dana D. Barnum of the company told about the wonders of the 13-story structure, the guests were conducted on a tour of inspection. The public opening will be on next Tuesday, May 31.

The building, which was designed by the architectural firm of Parker, Thomas & Rice and built by W. A. and H. A. Root, contractors, is heated entirely by gas, automatically controlled so as to keep the temperature at an agreeable level.

Because of this automatic control, the entire heating plant, including huge boilers and other equipment, is easily managed by one employe.

In itself a practical example of the possibilities of heating buildings and houses by gas, the building also has several exhibits designed by the company to show what can be done in the kitchen and elsewhere by use of gas in modern ways. In time, classes in cooking and household economics are to be established in an auditorium in the structure.

The company has extended an invitation to the public to inspect its new quarters at any time during the day, beginning with next Tuesday.

Says Bit of Irish Made 'Lindy' Win

Boston Irish are proud of Captain Charles Lindbergh, whom it has been revealed, has Irish blood in his veins. His mother admitted his descent from the Irish when she said:

"My boy gets a lot of Irish from my mother's side."

"Lucky Lindy's" grandmother was Irish.

John J. Keenan, secretary of the Charitable Irish Society of Boston, said today:

"It was fine of Captain Lindbergh and his mother to admit the Irish strain in their hour of triumph. With all due respect to the Nordic and the American in the gallant conqueror of the air, I trust I may be pardoned for saying that the Irish in him helped attain his objective. His wonderful performance showed that he possessed rare vision, courage and determination. It has thrilled the civilized world.

"Every act and utterance of the young man shows him to be the clean, moral, Christian type of American youth. His conduct reflects home influence and breeding and right living. His devotion to his mother is another outstanding trait that has impressed the public as has his directness and simplicity of manner. Captain Lindbergh's composite strain is typical of the cosmopolitan makeup of the United States. He has proved himself a real man and American. ## Cedar Hill Fete for the Benefit of the Denison House Starts Tomorrow, Fair Weather or Foul

JUST ON THE STROKE OF 12 TOMORROW, WHETHER the skies are bluest of the blue or choose to shower down uncounted rain drops, the Cedar Hill Fete for the Denison House gets underway. Thanks to Mrs. Malcolm Lang's infinite endeavors, plans to circumvent a downpour were made days ago, and should the gods be unkind, the affair in all its [illegible] will go on under cover instead of al fresco. Whole squads of smart maids and matrons are to be on hand to put the Denison House benefit over with a swing.

ALL HAS BEEN TOLD AT LENGTH BUT WILL BEAR repeating about the many booths for everything the dauntiest young lady could desire, the very complete arrangements for luncheons and dinners, the fortune-tellers of the tea-leaf and crystal ball variety ready to make a heavy purse for Denison House. Flowers will be sold by Miss Marguerite Lang, Miss Sue Clymer and Miss Gay Livermore. Miss Dorothy Hall has charge of balloons.

DECORATIONS ARE "MOST UNUSUAL," HAVING BEEN arranged by the master hand of P. Lyman Clark. He it was who laid out the grounds at Cedar Hill [illegible] a spot [illegible] pleasure [illegible] Lang, Mrs. Edwin Farnsworth and Mrs. Malcolm Lang, of the Music Festival and Opera Ball and Theatre Party fame, of all the [illegible] activities, Mrs. Lang is [illegible] and promises rich rewards to the eye as well as more material enjoyments.

JUST LIKE SO MANY BLOSSOMS IN THE WEDDINGS DE JOUR [illegible] were Mrs. Stedman Buttrick's lovely attendants. The [illegible] of [illegible] Mrs. Malcolm Lang, Mrs. Edwin Farnsworth and Mrs. [illegible] completed a bankful of [illegible] SATIN in pink and two shades of [illegible] and Aqua, background [illegible] Mrs. Farnsworth in water white satin and [illegible] marquise lines. Pink [illegible] "drops" for the [illegible] would be the [illegible] Mrs. Buttrick's were in pompon [illegible] fashioned with ruffles and swinging capes. The hats were [illegible] transparent mallines and they carried huge armfuls of garden [illegible]

A VERY STUNNING BRIDE WAS MRS. BUTTRICK. HER GOWN was of [illegible] satin designed in severely simple lines, with a [illegible] drapery. Her [illegible] train from the shoulders was a wide panel of [illegible] exquisite [illegible] point lace set into satin bands, and long satin panels [illegible] added emphasis to its straight lines. The veil was a single piece of tulle, bound with a [illegible] orange blossoms on silver. And the bouquet was a formal round cluster of orchids and valley lilies.

THE LARGE COMPANY OF GUESTS FIRST GATHERED FOR THE CEREMONIAL ITSELF, AT HIGH noon, and then went out to the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Keyes for the reception and wedding breakfast. Mr. and Mrs. Keyes call their place "River Cottage," and from its hill-side vantage point there is a sweeping view of the Charles River and the surrounding meadows. A huge marquise on the lawn defied the elements and gave the dejeuner al fresco appearance.

THE JUNIOR LEAGUE GIRLS HAVE DEMONSTRATED, TO THE QUEEN'S TASTE, THAT THEY [illegible] more than one. Their latest experiment [illegible] amateur theatricals [illegible] Denison House, a settlement [illegible] Friday [illegible] and given successfully [illegible] Denison House. A pleasant time [illegible] and most unusual [illegible] and green [illegible] a band [illegible] the theatre [illegible] another scene. Mumps, The Princess and the Woodcutter and The Birthdays of the Infanta, arranged by Stuart Walker, were warmly applauded.

MISS DOROTHY CORNISH WAS AS HANDSOME A LOVER AS girl could wish, one quite won the heart of the attractive [illegible] Prince as played so demurely and so captivatingly by Miss Elizabeth Hubbard. A wrathful Queen (Miss Eleanor Hesseltine), a majestic King (Miss Susan Blake), and three handsome Princes coming to woo the Princess performed admirably. Miss Gertrude Spellman as the Yellow Prince, Miss Janet Conway, the Blue Prince and Miss Sherry [illegible] the Red Prince. Miss Elizabeth Dana was a [illegible] And of course Miss [illegible] was handsome as ever in the part [illegible] of the Court Chamberlain.

Flag Signal on Auto Does Mean Danger —to the Driver

Fitchburg, May 26.—Sergeant Dewey O. Verona [illegible] in charge of the army recruiting service here, rose to unsuspected heights of oratory today when he discovered a tourist party using the Stars and Stripes as a danger signal on the rear of their car.

A man and a woman were in the car which carried the flag on the end of an assortment of camping equipment which extended back of the body of the machine.

Sergeant Verona stopped the machine and for five minutes he told the man and the woman what he thought of the desecration of the flag.

Then he folded the flag neatly, put it in his blouse pocket, and walked away.

Five years previous, through the death of her father, Roen has thrust upon her the care of her invalid mother, "Dearie," and her magnetic little brother, Jackie. She is their sole support. She works relentlessly through the five years they must wait, but the growing expenses sometimes frighten her. She is staggering under the burden. Her employer, James Burton, courts her and makes a veiled offer of marriage. She will not sacrifice Michael. The night of Michael's commencement they are drawn to each other in a scene of piercing tenderness. Michael begs: "Roen—let us be married now—let us go and be married tonight." The next day Burton also proposes

Sharkey to Be Popular Jack Isn't Understood Merely Confident | Fans Like Killer And Real Puncher Sharkey Is Both

By Nick Flatley

JACK SHARKEY WILL BE POPULAR CHAMP

JACK SHARKEY, the Brighton young man who is on his way to the heavyweight title, is now being pictured as a very unpopular youth. He will be, according to the boys who write such things, the recipient of boos and hisses and all that as long as he lives. He hasn't a chance, these same boys say, of ever hearing the wild welcome yell rise up when he steps into the ring.

The boys, we don't mind telling them, are all wet. Mister Jack Sharkey, when he gets up on the pinnacle, will be very popular. He will have as many friends as any champion ever did. Jack has color and personality. He says lots of things with his mouth, and out of the collection a good writer can always pick a gem or two.

Nick Flatley

We have seen a lot of the big sport heroes, in the making, but never a one that had more "copy" possibilities than this same Sharkey. He has ideas of his own, and he isn't afraid to express them. He has a keen mind, in his own business. He's a smart, calculating young man, with a real eye to the future.

Trouble is that Jack isn't understood. The gang in New York panned him because he talked a lot, and announced as often as anyone asked that he would knock Maloney cockeyed. The gang jumped on him for that. They thought he was a fathead. The gang hadn't met Jack. As they did, one by one, they began to admit that he was a pretty good chap.

The big fight taught them that his bragging was just delightful self-confidence. He thinks he will be champion of the world, and thinks so so intensively that he can make anyone who listens believe. The knockers are just filling space without really knowing what they're knocking about.

Young Mister Sharkey is a ring killer. That will make him popular to start with. He goes in to beat down his enemy with a serious viciousness that makes the chronic fan sit up. That will make him popular. He's cold and deadly in his execution, and the ring worms like that. He's a great showman, clever, flashy and fast.

And he packs a sock. The same crowd that talks of Dempsey as the ring's most popular figure was flaying Jack fearfully not so many moons ago. Jack was a drawing card because he carried a berserk spirit into the ring. Sharkey does exactly the same thing, and along with it has much more personality than Tiger Jack owned.

We have an idea that the authors who are flaying Sharkey just now will be eating their words ere another year rolls by.

HARVARD NEEDS NEW MATERIAL MUCH MORE THAN A NEW STADIUM FOR FOOTBALL

Over in New York they call Harvard [illegible]

REAL BASEBALL WAR IN BOTH LEAGUES

NEW YORK'S supremacy in baseball which was being established some ten days ago, has suddenly been threatened most seriously. The Pittsburgh Pirates have gone flying past the Giants in the National League, and the Chicago White Sox have crawled up to within two games of the Yanks in the American circuit.

After the campaign had straightened out from the opening shuffle the big town teams stepped out in front. The Yanks blasted their way through all opposition and the Giants battered aside everything they met. Began to look like another Gotham series.

That did not displease the owners of the New York teams. They have to win pennants to get what they consider proper returns on their investment—something like 200 per cent per annum. When the N. Y. teams aren't in the pennant fights they lose money. The boys in the big town hate a loser as much as they love a winner.

As things shape up now, both big leagues are off on races that will not be decided until late September takes over the stage. The Pirates, Cubs, Giants and Cubs will wage a bitter war before the Heydler pennant is won the Yanks, Chisox and Athletics will have a wild skirmish of their own to settle the issue in the Johnson area.

Boston fans will get only symbolic consolation from this, however.

MEDBURY SAYS---

By JOHN P. MEDBURY

ACCORDING to judicial records, three hundred breach of promise suits were filed last month. This goes to show that while it's the woman who pays, she usually collects from the man first.

THE average judge is very kind hearted. It doesn't cost him anything to be generous with another fellow's dough.

HEART balm is nothing but a lazy woman's alimony.

PEGGY JOYCE got hers by marrying a few millionaires. That is a good way, too, if you want to go to all that trouble.

ONE girl said she lost a fortune last year. Some rich guy promised to marry her and then kept his promise.

THE best she can get now is separate maintenance.

MOST women start out for the church and wind up at the bank.

IT'S a long alley that has no detours.

OF course, a lot of girls get married for love. But that's better than no reason at all.

ROMANCE is one thing, and finance is another.

IF a woman can win enough breach of promise suits, she can become independent without getting married.

IT'S nice to collect fifty thousand from some guy and not be obligated to him.

THAT'S a bunch of money to get without having to do a lot of dishes for it.

TO get that much dough in the olden days, a girl would have had to spend nineteen or twenty years at the sink.

GRANDMA used to earn her alimony.

HEART balm came in bottles.

THE way the girls are winning breach of promise suits lately every court room is a cleaning house.

WHAT this country needs is more of those good old fashioned love affairs when a man had to die before a woman could get his money.

NO WOMAN CAN KEEP HOUSE EFFICIENTLY

Without Good Health

MRS. FRANK DINDORE
BOX 238, LANCASTER, OHIO

Four Walls Can Make a House, but it takes a Woman to Make a Home

To be a successful homemaker, a woman must guard her health. When mother is not well, the home is upset. Women everywhere are learning through their own personal experiences, as these women did, the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

The medicine has helped me so much that I was soon able to do my work, and when my baby was born, my nurse, Mrs. Forbes, said it was the easiest birth she had ever attended. I will be more than pleased if I am helping someone else by giving my testimonial."—Mrs. EDWARD PINSONS, 614 Sturgis Ave., Sturgis, Michigan.

I was on a visit to my sister in Utica, Michigan, and she had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Her husband got me a bottle and I took it and felt so much better that I got a second one. Now, whenever I feel run-down I take the Vegetable Compound and soon feel all right again. I have had three little girls in the last six years and do all my housework, sewing, washing, and ironing. My time is pretty well taken up, but I will answer any letters I receive."—Miss. FRANK DINDORE, Box 238, Lancaster, Ohio.

Sturgis, Michigan.—"I am very thankful for what your medicine has done for me and have recommended it to others. I took it to give me strength before my baby was born. I would have to stop work and lie down sometimes all the afternoon. I felt as if I did not care whether anything was done or not. I got tired out so easily. One day I found a little book on my porch and that night I showed it to my husband and he went down town and got me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. The medicine has helped me so much that I was soon able to do my work, and when my baby was born, my nurse, Mrs. Forbes, said it was the easiest birth she had ever attended. I will be more than pleased if I am helping someone else by giving my testimonial."—Mrs. EDWARD PINSONS, 614 Sturgis Ave., Sturgis, Michigan.

A WIFE'S MEDITATIONS---BY HELEN ROWLAND

THE luckiest—and saddest—day of my life, was that on which my specialist raised his price per office call to $10, and I decided to get WELL.

He was a good specialist, and undoubtedly had made a better and a thinner woman of me. But under his sympathetic influence I had developed "Symptomania" and a chronic case of "feeling SORRY for myself."

No day was complete without its collateral hour in the Doctor's office, TALKING about myself! I used to drop in, sometimes, just to tell him how WELL I felt!

That is the secret of a doctor's success; to be able to start a woman talking about herself, and then to sit and listen raptly and sympathetically, until she gets the last complex out of her system.

Lots of good physicians have built

THE BEST JOKE I EVER HEARD

The Boston Evening American will pay $1 for "Best Joke" published. Address "Best Joke," Boston Evening American.

"Well, not exactly. I'm still paying her alimony."

MARION CORCORAN,
No. 819 East Eighth street, South Boston.

Park avenue apartment houses on the knowledge of this bit of feminine psychology. And, Heaven knows, they have earned them.

Any woman who can afford a doctor, a lawyer and a psycho-analyst should be perfectly happy, free from inhibitions and filled with sweetness and light.

Any husband who can afford to pay these specialists to listen to his wife's soul-problems by the hour should have a peaceful home-life and a free mind for his business.

A woman, simply MUST have somebody to whom she can talk about herself! There is no mental medicine like telling somebody how you suffer! It is far more stimulating than radium, gland pills or blood transfusion!

But alas, as a repository for a wife's symptoms and sufferings, a husband is less than nothing. He has no SOUL! From the day he marries, his spiritual nature begins to be buried under his appetite or his neurotic or his business worries, or his golf-complex.

The minute you begin telling him how your head or your heart or your conscience is hurting you, he runs for the aspirin, the smelling salts or the bicarbonate of soda; or else he dashes out to the Club, or suddenly recalls a business appointment, or calls up the DOCTOR! The sly dog!

A man simply cannot bear watching his wife "suffer" all over the living room furniture, when he wants to read his newspaper or figure up his accounts.

But a woman always has SOMETHING the matter with her—either germs or nerves, or too much weight or a soul-problem, or a servant-girl-complex!

A man can suffer mentally in silence, but a woman must suffer out LOUD—and the better-looking and more sympathetic the specialist to whom she suffers out loud, the greater relief it gives her.

That is why doctors build apartment houses, lawyers buy chateaus in France, and psycho-analysts have imported cars. They EARN them!

had any cash. He borrowed from me and, when she eventually had gave me $25, never returned any of it. He swore he did, and by check; but no such checks were ever produced. He tried to borrow from my mother the first time he ever met her, in my own house.

NEVER AFRAID OF JUDD

The night of the incident in the Jamaica Chinese restaurant he was working himself up through a long season of drinking to where he would have the courage to go through with the obsession he had so long pursued to do away with my husband. He kept repeating that this was the time—how—to night.

He had eaten only lightly. I got him to eat, like food seemed to calm him and get him tractable again. I humored him, played on some of his fine whims that I had learned pleased him, and the finish of that night was that he let me lead him peacefully and like a lamb to the station, where I saw him on a train, and I breathed a big sigh of relief.

I was never really afraid of Judd. He called me "Mamie" more than the picture of how we stood, one with "the other." The two-week trip we took to Stamford was like a couple of carefree kids on a picnic. There was never a cross word between us.

Far from his advising me to cut the trip short, as he later said when he was falsely accusing my life away, he was urging me to stay on and on. When he spoke of my husband his brows knitted and he scowled. He had never seen him but he hated him, not so much because of what I told him, for I had told him all about my domestic unhappiness, but because the man was my husband.

TOOK EASIEST WAY

Remember, he, himself, testified that he had bought the deadly sash-weight, the cotton waste, the wire, the rubber gloves, when I was not present, when he was many miles from me. Are those the actions, premeditated, the thoughtful workings of a man who was reluctantly being dragged by a vampire into committing first degree murder? At the long distance telephone calls, to me, not outgoing calls from me. He had come in a bottle of chloroform, which I had poured in the sink. On the night of the murder he came to my house, as I didn't go to his. He waited. And he did the crime!

I left the doors open, so that he could enter, a stage whereon I am by humor him or tell my husband or the police. Either would have been an immediate and final reversal. My husband would have thrown me out and divorced me.

Position, irritatingly, weakly, I took the easy way, sure that I could once more dissuade him, distract him, or plead my way out with him.

OBEYED ORDERS

After the deed. I was desperate. More than ever now was there need to cover up to make as little as the horrible situation. Beside myself, scarcely knowing a thing I did, I obeyed every order from Judd. He told me to burn the robe and the nightgown and his shirt—I did it. He told me to get his money out of the coat that hung over the back of a chair downstairs—I did it. He told me to lie down and let him be me, and what I should say and do later—I did it. He was taking flight. I let him. I had to stay behind and take it and fight it out. I consented. He asked me to save him. I tried.

I see now how pitiful it was. How my silly lies must have sounded to the experienced, hardened policemen and prosecutor. But I had gotten away with lies almost as feeble for years, successfully.

As I see it all now, I marvel how I could have been so stupid. I never really realized that I was very selfish, that I was doing things so terrible. I didn't see where my case was any worse than or much different from many others. The fact that Gray was always talking about doing away with my husband did not impress me deeply. I never believed it. At times I put it down to his way of showing me that he loved me madly. At other times I put it down to whiskey.

LOOKED RIDICULOUS

Now and again, when his voice sounded more serious than usual, I had for a moment an idea of prevailing upon him to stop. But even then it seemed so remote, so unreal.

When I gave him that black six sash-weight, I distinctly remember it now. I did it with a smile. I didn't feel guilty. It was such a clumsy thing, such a childish sort of weapon—not to forbidding as my husband's loaded revolver. And I had lugged that big, heavy thing all over Manhattan, shopping, and the fact that it was unwrapped it. It didn't look murderous. It looked ridiculous. I knew it down in the cellar with the rest of the junk.

There was no need of hauling a sashweight several hundred miles from where Judd had bought it. In my bosom there were hammers, wrenches, all sorts of tools, and probably twenty sashweights. The whole action of buying it, bringing it all that distance and then giving it to me to carry home struck me as the fantastic act of a little boy, the same sort of a little boy perhaps, who whittles a club to slay imaginary giants with. And that was always the spirit in which I thought Judd talked murder.

GAS HOSE INCIDENT

The whole idea came to him, in the first place, from the short story of the detached gas-hose, which I shall explain in detail in a later chapter. That was another accident. The mishap couldn't have killed him because the windows were open. The room was big enough and air was circulating through all of it.

But that first gave him the suggestion that, had circumstances been just slightly changed, my husband might have died, and he began contemplating what a windfall that would have been—for him.

That grew until, I now see, it possessed him. And I never believed, until it was too late, that it was more than a pose or just wild talk under the influence of too much liquor.

That is why I say "the things I did do not weigh as heavily upon me as they would if I had deliberately and wilfully did do."

If Sons and Daughters Would Listen

A Lesson in Two Pictures by Charles Dana Gibson

HAPPY IS GIRL WITH AN UNDERSTANDING FATHER.

FORTUNATE SON OF A PATIENT, DEVOTED MOTHER

Charles Dana Gibson prints these two pictures, side by side, in "HEARST'S INTERNATIONAL COSMOPOLITAN MAGAZINE," the only publication to which Mr. Gibson contributes outside of his own New York "LIFE."

Under these pictures Mr. Gibson puts the line "EXPERT ADVICE ON THEIR FIRST QUARREL."

The boy and girl, engaged to be married, have had their first misunderstanding. Both have said foolish things.

The girl goes to her father, the boy to his mother, for consolation and advice.

You can see in the faces of father and mother, as Mr. Gibson draws them, that their advice is good, the quarrel will be ended, and the young people go along as happily as can be expected—in these days when a boy sits opposite his mother with a cigarette drooping in the corner of his mouth, and the average girl feels little need of a father's advice and experience except when something goes wrong or bills become troublesome.

These pictures by Mr. Gibson are comforting, and at the same time they cause sadness. There ARE boys and girls that still go to their fathers and mothers for advice—BUT NOT MANY OF THEM.

There ARE fathers and mothers of this type, gentle, patient, UNDERSTANDING, guiding and convincing their children. But such fathers and mothers are not as numerous as they were once.

Fortunate the boy with a mother that he can consult and wise enough to consult her and heed her advice.

And fortunate the girl with a father able to sympathize with troubles from which time has removed him, to criticise folly without destroying sympathy and putting an end to confidence.

"Honor thy father and thy mother" is a commandment as obsolete for many of the young as the other commandment: "Thou shalt not steal" is for many of those that have power.

PLAYGROUNDS SAVE CHILDREN'S LIVES

By DR. FRANK CRANE

DURING 1923 in the United States 17,000 people were killed in automobile accidents.

Four hundred and twenty-five thousand and more were injured.

Automobiles killed on an average of forty-six people a day during 1923.

The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company states that nearly seven times as many of their policyholders in each 100,000 were killed in 1923 as in 1911.

Many of those who were killed were children.

We live for our children and our first concern should be to protect them.

A city is not only a place to do business and a place in which to live, but it is a place in which our children are to grow up.

We want them and want them beside us and children must have a place to play.

It is therefore as necessary for a child to have a playground as it is for his father to have an office or his mother to have the home.

The lawn around the house is not sufficient even when there is a lawn.

A movement is on foot to have the real estate dealers who plan new subdivisions to make arrangements for playgrounds at suitable intervals.

It is very difficult to arrange for playgrounds in old portions of the city where property is all taken up, but it should be done whether it is difficult or not.

Statistics show that in Cleveland, where they have a high pedestrian fatality rate, less than 30 per cent. of the victims are children. The city has 72 supervised playgrounds.

Toledo, which has 12 playgrounds plotted on a spot map, showed only 32 child automobile fatalities during the three years 1922 to 1924.

Richmond has many playgrounds and the child automobile fatalities are less than 25 per cent. of the total number in which pedestrians are involved.

Besides urging those who have charge of subdivisions to have suitable playgrounds, efforts should be made to give children a place to play in the more congested portions of the city. The children are here. We are living for their benefit and every measure should be taken to protect them.

BOSTON DAY BY DAY

SAFETY

WHILE accidents along the FELLSWAY, from BROADWAY, SOMERVILLE, to SPOT POND, were frequent in occurrence and of more or less severity, the adoption of electric lights of high candle power along this stretch of heavily travelled roadway has reduced the number of accidents almost to nil. The new lights have been in use for a period of five months and during that period there have been fewer accidents for the whole time than in any month previous to their installation. Formerly gasoline lamps were used. Sections of State-owned parkways which have the gas lamps will soon have them replaced with the new type electric lights.

SHE GOT IT

The routine of a FEDERAL street barber shop was badly upset when a "flapper" after a bob for which she paid 50 cents, demanded a receipt for her money. "We don't give receipts," was the answer she got. "Well, you'll have to break your rule this time for I've simply got to have one to show at home," insisted the girl. The BOSS then wrote "paid" on the back of the check and signed his name. "That's a new one on me," was his comment as the girl went out, "It's the first receipt for a haircut I ever gave out."

CALLERS

If the number of callers and telephone calls is any indication, then JAMES F. POWERS of the GOVERNORS COUNCIL is the most popular of the eight members. Powers is the only DEMOCRATIC member and comes from South Boston. But the colleagues of POWERS are not envious because they have a shrewd suspicion that the bulk of the visitors are after something for themselves.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

The government of the U. S. A. not so long ago decided that it is not concerned with American babies or their mothers.

It is concerned with pigs and chickens and cows and donkeys and sea gulls. It passes laws and spends a great deal of money to protect the lives and improve the breeding conditions of such creatures. It has equally stringent laws and large appropriations which will keep the scab off fruit and grain and prevent the wholesale destruction of trees. And no government is more lavish in the matter of bridges and dams and reservations.

But when it comes to babies and their mothers—

When the birth of little Americans is involved and the disease which preys upon such birth and the perils of the women giving birth—

"NIX" says the august Senate of the United States of America. "Away with it! We can't be bothered! Such trifles are a joke! We can't waste time on them. Why they don't even merit a serious argument. Let's laugh them out of court!"

And so they did.

Why am I saying this?

Because it is true.

Only this year the Senate of the United States laughed the needs of the mothers and babies of America out of court by conducting a filibuster which repealed the Shepard-Towner Bill.

The Shepard-Towner Bill was one of the most civilized acts ever passed by a progressive country. It guaranteed national protection and service to maternity and infancy throughout the States. It instructed the ignorant, prospective mothers in country districts—the weary, frightened mothers of the deserts and mountains and prairies. It sent pamphlets to those mothers telling them what to do when their babies came and during and after birth. It told them about the proper food and nursing. Very often such instruction was the only help which the mother received during the awful ordeal of birth. It saved the lives of countless mothers and babies.

When this act was passed it was hoped that it would remain as a permanent testimony to the wisdom and humanity of the American nation. But it was repealed without even a decent argument. The Senators talked it to death!

For thirteen hours they talked and jeered and laughed. Claudia Cranston tells about it in her article "Playdays on Capitol Hill," in the May issue of "GOOD HOUSEKEEPING." It is a terrific article. If it doesn't make you fighting mad your own mother should be ashamed to have borne you.

For thirteen hours those Senators deliberately conducted a rumpus which would hold the floor and delay consideration of the bill until it was killed. They discussed nothing at all with great noise and enthusiasm. They read books to which no one listens, recited poems, snubbed, joked, jeered without breath-taking.

A small appropriation was passed "which will carry on the work until 1929 with the proviso that at the end of that time, upon June 30, 1929, the act shall be and is repealed forever."

What does that mean?

That means that after that time the federal government will refuse to be responsible for maternity and infancy within its borders.

The Individual States can, if they choose, introduce laws which will carry this work on.

But won't they do it? And wouldn't that be enough?

If they would do it and if it would be enough, why isn't the welfare of hogs and cattle, oranges and pine trees left to the jurisdiction of the individual States?

Why isn't the building of bridges and the protection of reservations left to the individual States?

Because the individual States won't attend to it. There is too much ignorance and indifference and poverty in many of the individual States. And so, since hogs and oranges and trees and sea gulls are precious to the national government, we have FEDERAL PROTECTION which the U. S. A. enforces by its sovereign might and dignity.

But the Mothers and Babies?

They don't count!

LET 'EM DIE!
